

THE MINI GUIDE · NO FLUFF, JUST STEPS

Your creator campaign HQ in Claude

Seven steps, seven prompts, one Project.

Seven prompts to shortlist, brief, check and report on creators from one Claude Project.

1

STEP 1 • SET UP THE HQ

Put the brief at the centre

Create one Project per campaign. Upload five short files: brief, brand rules, past results, creator list, ad-label rules. Add standing instructions so every chat starts informed.

Project files

- ☒ 01 Campaign brief
- ☒ 02 Brand rules
- ☒ 03 Past results
- ☐ 04 Creator longlist
- ☐ 05 Ad-label rules

Claude

You are the HQ assistant for [campaign]. Use only the Project files and what I paste. If something is missing, say "not in the files". Never infer sensitive traits or rate looks. Quote your evidence. Draft only: I decide and I send.

2

STEP 2 • SHORTLIST FROM THE BRIEF

Rank creators on fit, not followers

Export your longlist as a CSV with a notes column. Claude scores each creator against the brief and quotes the row it used. You check two or three figures yourself.

Shortlist (example)

CREATOR	FIT	RISK
Creator A	High	No sponsor data
Creator B	Medium	Over budget
Creator C	High	Check comments

Using file 01 and file 04, shortlist the best [8] creators. Score 1 to 5 on brief fit, content, engagement health, cost and brand safety. Table: Creator | Score | Why (quote the row) | Risk | Question to ask. Say "not in the files" for missing data.

3

STEP 3 • VET THE COMMENTS

Turn a hunch into questions

Paste five captions and 20 to 30 public comments. Claude lists evidence, concerns and questions to ask. Flags are questions, not verdicts, and it never guesses sensitive traits.

Vet [Creator A] using the pasted captions and comments plus files 01 and 02. Check fit, generic versus specific comments, and competing sponsors. Never infer sensitive traits or comment on appearance. Answer: Evidence, Concerns with quotes, Questions to ask.

STEP 4 • DRAFT OUTREACH

One real line makes it personal

Write one line per creator about a post you liked. Claude drafts a short message around it. You read every message and send it from your own account.

● ● ● Email draft (example)

To: Creator A, business email

Subject: Paid collaboration, one video

Hi Creator A, your video on [topic] ...

May I send a one-page brief?

Claude

Draft a first message for each creator below, using file 01 and my note. Under 90 words. Open with my note, say it is a paid collaboration, make one clear ask, offer the one-page brief. No flattery I did not supply. Table: Creator | Subject | Message.

5

STEP 5 · ONE-PAGE BRIEF

Give creators one screen to read

Claude builds the brief from your master file: the one thing, must-say, must-not-say, dates and label line. Gaps are marked [TO CONFIRM]. Payment and rights stay in the contract.

Brief checklist

- ☒ The one thing
- ☒ Must-say lines
- ☒ Must-not-say lines
- ☐ Dates and deliverables
- ☐ Ad label line

Claude

Turn files 01 and 02 into a creator brief under 250 words: the one thing, audience, must-say, must-not-say, deliverables and dates, measurement, ad label line, approvals. Leave out payment and rights. Mark gaps as [TO CONFIRM].

STEP 6 · CHECK DRAFTS AND LABELS

Check every draft before it posts

Claude checks each draft against the brief and your label rules, quotes the line, and marks Pass, Fix or Unclear. Then you check the live post on your phone.

● ● ● Draft check (example)

CHECK	RESULT
Must-say line	Pass
Product claim	Fix
Ad label	Unclear

COPY THIS PROMPT

Claude

Check the draft below against files 01, 02 and 05.
Table: Check | Pass, Fix or Unclear | Quote | Fix.
Cover the one thing, must-say lines, claims, label wording and position, format. If you cannot see it, mark Unclear, never Pass.

7

STEP 7 • WEEKLY REPORT

Report from numbers you exported

Export the figures into one CSV each week. Claude drafts a one-page report with formulas shown and gaps flagged. Check two numbers by hand, then save it back into the Project.

Weekly views (example)

Creator A		80
Creator B		55
Creator C		30

COPY THIS PROMPT

Claude

Write this week's report from the attached CSV:
headline sentence, table by creator, what worked, what did not, next action per creator (keep, adjust, stop).
Use only CSV numbers, show every formula, flag mixed definitions, mark gaps "not in the data".
